TO THE UNFORTUNATE

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNY STREET,

NEAR COMMERCIAL,

San Francisco, Cal.

ESTABLISHED IN 1854, for the treatment of Private, Nervous and Seminal Diseases, or the Special Vices of Mankind.

Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness (impotency as the result of Self-abuse or the indiscretions of years), Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Enlarged Lungs superinduced by Mercury, etc.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing to the public that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals and Dispensaries of Europe, and has resumed practice at his old and long-established Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, in the city of San Francisco, where, from old patients and the many suffering his services may still be obtained.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from ignorance, or from a too early exposure to the influences of the climate, and during which fatal period the seeds of disease are implanted in the system, which, at a later period of life, when the constitution is broken down and unable to throw off the disease, develops itself in the form of Scrofula, Ulcers, Tumors, Cancers, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Throat, Nose and Skin, Mercurial Affections, Diseases of the Bones, Joints and Limbs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Diseases of the Head, Affections of the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Bladder, Dropsy, Gravel, Pains in the Back, Nervousness, Debility, Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Blushing, Timidity, Trembling of the Limbs, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Wandering Pains in the Head, Face, Back, Limbs and Joints, Affections of the Heart, Loss of Confidence, Depression of Spirits, Dread of Society, Self-distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, Lassitude, Want of Energy, Failure of Memory, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dreams, Nervous Irritability, Sexual Excesses, Impotency, Sterility, and all diseases of a Private Nature, whether contracted in this country or in any part of the world, are treated with unfailing success.

Cautions to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the Sanhedrim of quacks and tenderloin with horses worn to certificates, the unwary home of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the city and newspapers of San Francisco, all other pretenders and beasts of prey, who, by their treacherous and base conduct, are hurrying many unsuspecting victims to premature graves. Intelligence office keepers etc. are hereby cautioned against the base practice of recommending any of the above-named impostors, as by so advertising physicians in order to secure patronage, they thereby render themselves liable to be treated as accessories to the crimes of the parties they recommend. Be sure that you have the right physician to treat you, for as there are many quacks in this city who are not qualified to treat any disease, there is no safety in trusting them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting diplomas, certificates, pretended patients and testimonials, but invites the most rigid inquiry or you may call into the hands of Dr. Gibbon personally.

Dr. Gibbon will cheerfully refund the money in every case of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Sterility, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Enlarged Lungs superinduced by Mercury, etc., which he undertakes and fails to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, San Francisco, California.

Consultation FREE.

AN EXTRACT FROM HELL.

HIS OPINION OF THE DESTROYER OF HIS WIFE'S REPUTATION.

[From a Sermon delivered in 1865.]

The seducer! Laying upon the most sacred occasion he betrays innocence. How? By its tenderest faculties by its trust by its unsuspecting faith by its tender love by its honor the victim offers and often is not the seducer so much as the sufferer, betrayed by a strange exorcism which bewitched her noblest affections and became the suicide of her virtue the betrayer for the most intense selfishness the defense of honor—by lying by of fraud by blinding the eye, confusing the conscience, misleading the judgment, and in killing the dew of sorcery upon every flower of sweet affection—deliberately heartlessly, the confiding victim! In there one shade of good intention one glimmering trace of light. Not one. There was not the most shadowy treacherous intention of honor. It was sheer premeditated, wholesale ruin from beginning to end.

The accused sorcerer opens the door to push her forth. She looks out all shuddering for there is the shame and sharp loathed hatred and clattering slander and unclean envy and triumphing jealousy and murderous revenge—these are seen rising before her clouds full of fire that burn but will not kill. And there is for her want and poverty and gaunt famine. There is the world spread out she sees father and mother heartlessly abandoning her. A brother's shame a sister's anguish. Its garments and far down at the bottom of all vision the murky cloud for a moment lifts and she sees the very bottom of infamy the blackness of death the last spasm of horrible despair.

THE AWFUL TRIUMPH OF FINAL DOOM

All this the trembling betrayed creature sees through the open door of the future and with a voice that might move the dead she turns and clasps his knees in awful agony. Leave me not away. Poor thing—she is dealing with a demon. Spare her—save her! The polished accomplished betrayed her to abandon her and walks the streets to boast his hellish deed. He is loyal—weighs more than his lust for a year—made it. He'll delay at the last Plymouth prayer meeting. It becomes him as a reputation! Church Society (the church) will crush him. They will smite the wolf and

Fatal Accident

GOLD HILL August 17.—Between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning an accident occurred in the Belcher hoisting works killing the foreman R. D. Bray and seriously injuring Alfred Donald might boss by the breaking of the fly wool. The wheel had eight segments and only half of it remained on the shaft the balance flying upward cutting through 10 by 10 inch timbers a large steam pipe of an inclime engine, destroying a large portion of the roof, and landing 300 feet in the rear of the works. In cutting the steampipe, it filled the building with steam so that others could hardly comprehend the true nature of the accident until the supply was shut off from the boiler. David Steward an engineer hastily glanced around and found Bray lying on the floor with his head under a broken section. His skull was crushed. He gasped a few times and was dead. Donald was hurt by being carried into the sheaves falling a distance of 30 feet to the floor within a foot of the shaft. His left arm was broken near the elbow his right arm fractured and left leg sustained a compound fracture above the knee. He also received a severe cut on the right side of the skull laying it bare. Another night boss named Leonard was descending in the cage and was saved by jumping off at 800 feet station. Bray was an Englishman aged 34, and unmarried. He will be buried by the Masons and Odd Fellows to-morrow.

GENERAL NOTES

The Democrats of Massachusetts will hold their State Committee at Worcester September 9th. The call will invite all opposed to the Republican policy and their campaign proposes the advocacy of a stringent home law. William Gaston is the coming candidate for Governor.

Democratic candidates for Governor of New York are plenty as blackberries. Horatio Seymour, Judge Church, Samuel J. Tilden, Allen C. Beach, Martin Grover, Francis Kernan, John Ganson, W. W. Wright, Smith M. Weed, Ahasa J. Parker and Fernando Wood are a few of the more prominent names.

There is trouble among the New Jersey Democracy. The Bergen county Democrat says: A certain Jack Smith ambassador Assembly man from Mercer is running, the Executive Committee. This Smith is a pretty specimen of a man to be allowed in a Democratic convention. Oust him. Here's harmony with a vengeance.

The Southwestern Car Works Company, Jeffersonville, Ky., have shipped two simple cars for the inspection of the agent of the Russian Government. It is expected if these cars suit the Russian officers the Southwestern Car Works Company will get a large contract from that government.

Accounts from the Red River parishes in Louisiana concur in stating that arms for the negroes are constantly arriving, an unerring indication points to a renewal of difficulties like that at Colfax. A gentleman who passed through Grant parish informed the Alexandria Democrat the other day that he had occasion to call at the cabin of a negro named Tom Johnson and found it an arsenal containing some sixty U. S. muskets.

THE BEECHER-TILTON CASE.

Moulton's Statement and Cross-Examination

NEW YORK August 15.—The following is Moulton's statement. The Plymouth Church Investigating Committee furnish the following report of the proceedings on Monday night:

BROOKLYN August 10 1874.—The Committee met at 11 A. M. all the members present. At about 5 o'clock Francis D. Moulton who was expected at the opening of the session made his appearance when with the consent of the Committee he read the following statement prefacing it with these remarks:

I submit to you first the invitation signed by your Chairman July 1st 1874. Next the invitation of your Chairman signed July 28th. Next the invitation of your Chairman signed August 4th [having copies of these invitations on the table before him].

Gentlemen of the Committee—When I was last before you I stated that I would at your request produce such documents as I had and make such a statement of facts as I had come to my knowledge on the subject of your inquiry. I fully decided to do this and to have produced my statement of facts as sustained by documents and made an exhibition of all the papers that have come in any way in my possession bearing on the controversy between the parties. That statement must, of course, bear with more or less force upon one or the other of them. On mature reflection aided by the advice of my most valued friends I have reconsidered that determination and am obliged to say to you that I feel compelled from a sense of duty to the parties to my retainer to the their controversy and to myself neither to make the statement nor to produce the documents. When I first became a party to this unhappy controversy between Beecher and Tilton I had no personal knowledge nor any document in my possession, which could affect either. Everything that I know of or have received of fact or papers has come to me in the most sacred confidence, to be used for the purpose of compromising and settling all the difficulties between them, and of preventing as far as possible any knowledge of their private affairs being brought to public notice. For this purpose all the documents have been trusted to me, and for none other. If I should now, as I then purposed, it would be not for the purpose of peace and reconciliation but to voluntarily take part in a controversy which they have seen fit to renew between themselves. How faithfully and earnestly and honestly I have labored to do my duty to the parties for peace they both know. The question for me to settle for myself and no other is now, ought I to do anything against either party in the renewed controversy by the use of that which I received and have used only to promote harmony? On my honor and conscience I think I ought [not] and at the risk of whatever misrepresentation may come upon me I must decline to be a witness. Whether before any tribunal—having the power to compel the production of the testimony and statement of facts—I shall ever produce these papers or give any of the confidential statements, I must resolve myself the judge of the case which I hope may never come, against my wish as I never have been in sympathy with a renewal of this conflict. Part of these documents have been given to the public. In so far as confidence in regard to them has ceased it is but just therefore and due to the parties, that the whole of those documents, portions of which only have been given to the public, shall be put into your hands in response to the renewed request of the committee. I have, therefore, copies of them which I produce here and place in the hands of the committee with the hope and request that after they have been examined they will be returned. If any controversy arises as to the authenticity of the copies of these documents, on that point I shall hold myself open to speak of their existence. Except in defense of my own honor and uprightness of my course in this unhappy business—for the purity and candor of which I appeal to the consciences of both the parties to sustain me—I do not propose and hope I may never be called upon hereafter to speak either as to the facts or to produce any paper that I have received from either of the parties mentioned herein.

FRANCIS B. MOULTON

The letters will appear in Beecher's statement with an explanation of each.

CROSS EXAMINATION

Winslow.—Mr. Moulton, the committee desire me to ask some questions. Notwithstanding the position you take here in your written statement you are well aware as you show by the three invitations which the committee have sent you that we are in good faith pursuing an investigation. You will remember that we were empowered by the pastor of Plymouth Church with the sanction and approval of the Examinating Committee of that church to inquire into the matters relating to the alleged scandal by Tilton, and the letter of authority. No restrictions were put upon us of any kind. We intend to examine the social evidence, and we have looked upon you as one of the principal sources of evidence. We have waited some two or three weeks to get your testimony, and I am sure I express the thanks of the Committee when I express a sensible view of the position you take. Of course we know that we are not endowed with compulsory powers. We are, as you state a mere volunteer tribunal. You can do exactly as you please. We want your pleasure, but what I desire to know on behalf of the Committee is whether you have so decidedly formed it as to purpose to make it beyond recall as the thing now stands.

Moulton.—In reply to what you have said and with reference to my attitude here so far as you are concerned in this Committee I call your attention to your own invitation named in this. We require that you bring all letters and documents in your possession which are referred to by Theodore Tilton to his statement before the Committee." I comply with the request of this Committee and produce copies of letters referred to by Tilton the authenticity of which I read you a few moments since.

Q.—Do you mean to have us understand Mr. Moulton that you have personally compared the original with the copies so that you know of your own knowledge that they are correct? A.—You state exactly what I have stated.

Q.—You have not stated anything on that point. A.—Yes I stated that these are copies of letters which you requested when you referred to Theodore Tilton's documents.

Q.—Do you state of your own personal knowledge that they are copies or have you trusted to somebody else to make copies and compare them? A.—I beg pardon sir I am willing to authenticate these copies whenever you wish that they should be authenticated.

Q.—Cannot you now be induced to go on notwithstanding what has passed and give us a full statement of all your knowledge of this matter? A.—I stand upon the communication which I have made you to day.

Q.—And that you deem a satisfactory reason. Of course I am now referring to the present matter. A.—Yes, sir.

Winslow.—There is another point I would like to ask you about Mr. Moulton. Considering the great importance of these letters I submit to you whether it would not be fair and proper that the originals be produced now notwithstanding your readiness to authenticate the copies. You know that in a court copies would not be received where the originals could be produced and would you not be willing to produce them long enough to have them looked at and examined?

Moulton.—In answer to that question I will say I have not any desire now nor have I had any desire to withhold these originals from you and I am willing now, or within a few minutes, to produce them. You may send any member of your Committee to see them if you doubt their authenticity.

Winslow.—I do not put it on the ground of doubt but on the ground of business like regularity.

Moulton.—Pardon me. I call your attention to the language of this statement which I have made and if the authenticity by either party to these documents is in doubt I hold myself ready to prove their authenticity.

Winslow.—I do not feel called upon to put it on any ground of doubt because there is no reason for doing it.

Moulton.—I do not think there is, sir.

Winslow.—It is merely a matter of custom in any business regularity.

Moulton.—I have in good faith come here and have presented to you copies of original documents. If you doubt—

Winslow.—Do not put it in that way please.

Moulton.—Pardon me. I referred to my communication. If there is any doubt I shall rest on the doubt.

Winslow.—You were about to say something of your willingness to send for them while you are here and let us see them.

Moulton.—Oh well you won't doubt them I think.

Moulton.—If we should conclude that we wanted to see them at some other time would you send them?

Moulton.—Certainly sir.

Winslow.—Within the present week?

Moulton.—Certainly I am willing to go with all the members of your present committee or any one that you may select some time during the present week and show to any accredited member of this committee the original documents. Is that a fair answer to that question?

Winslow.—That is satisfactory.

Hall.—Perhaps that question could be determined so far as the committee are concerned at the present moment.

Moulton.—I want the action in reference to these documents determined according to the expression of the document which I have submitted to you.

Winslow.—Well if for any reason we want to see the originals I understand you to say there is no objection?

White.—I want to inquire whether your objection to giving a fuller statement is based up n the wording of the letters which seem on one construction to limit it to bringing with you the original of letters or papers referred to in Tilton's statement before the committee as it seems to me that the letter is incomplete of an explanation and one which certainly was the understanding of the communication.

Moulton.—Yes, sir. I will do with our pleasure. I wish to say, and do say, that I have requested just now on the request of your Chairman and that all the reasons for the non production of the facts, or non exhibition of the documents is given in the communication which I have just read to you.

White.—Well as I understand if the first request antedating all of these called upon you to come before us and give your testimony in regard to any charges which might affect the character an Christian standing of Rev. Tilton, in the letter referred to of Theodore Tilton to Dr. Bacon.

Moulton.—Your original letter does not say any such thing.

White.—Have you a copy here that we may see what it did say?

Moulton.—I presented to you at the beginning of this interview the letters from your Chairman with reference to which I appear and it is a fact that I have fully answered this three repeated question. I submit that the answer is sufficient.

Sage.—Allow me to ask you one question Moulton.

Moulton.—Certainly.

Sage.—One letter of mine which is before me contains a request to bring with you the originals of all letters and papers referred to in Tilton's statement to the Committee?

Winslow.—He has covered that by his agreement.

Moulton.—If you doubt or question, or if you require them you shall have them.

Sage.—When shall we.

Moulton.—My dear sir you can go with me altogether to my house, if you want to.

Sage.—The answer is unexplicit.—that we can have possession?

Moulton.—Not that you can have possession, but you can see them.

Moulton.—Yes sir in accordance with my statement.

White.—The letters that are referred to which are produced by you here are three in number each of them refers to a request before you to bring with you your testimony. I desire simply as one of the committee to state that is my understanding of these requests that they cover the same thing that was embodied in the statement in the request early in July that you appear and give your testimony in regard to matter involved in the Tilton letter to Bacon and as they refer to that again I claim as my understanding, as one of the committee that this request is not limited to a simple production of papers but that it does include in it the request to give your testimony in regard to all the matters that is what I have been trying to make appear here.

Moulton.—I repeat again that I have answered in my interview with you to-day, the request of the Chairman of your Committee.

In answer to a question put by Tracy Moulton replied: I have stated explicitly in my communication to this Committee the grounds upon which I deny to this Committee a statement of the facts and exhibition of the documents that have come into my possession in confidence.

Tracy.—Then you do not mean to put that refusal upon the form of the Committee's invitation to you?

Moulton.—No sir.

On motion of Cleveland, it was voted that Winslow be authorized to go with Moulton and examine and verify the documents.

After some informal conversation in regard to the publication of the proceedings of the present session Moulton retired and the Committee remained in consultation until 7 o'clock and then adjourned to meet again on Tuesday the 11th at 8 o'clock.

REPORT OF THE LATEST INTERVIEW WITH TILTON.

NEW YORK August 12.—Following is a report of the latest interview with Tilton:

Reporter.—What is the situation Mr. Tilton?

Tilton.—I have no doubt of my complete vindication.

Reporter.—Will it come through the courts?

Tilton.—I can only say that the public will be convinced that I told God's solemn truth in my sworn statement.

Reporter.—Is General Butler familiar with the points of the statement which Moulton prepared?

Tilton.—He is. I believe, perfectly familiar with the length and detailed strength which Mr. Moulton prepared but did not present.

Reporter.—Has Butler said anything to you concerning that statement?

Tilton.—He has. He said Moulton's statement would kill Henry Ward Beecher. He said it was simply damning.

Reporter.—Is Moulton guided by the advice of Gen. Butler?

Tilton.—They have had frequent consultations. I have not made a single suggestion to Frank Moulton in regard to this statement but I know what Moulton knows and I can simply repeat what I said to you yesterday. Frank Moulton will confirm my story, for he will tell the truth.

Reporter.—Has District Attorney Winslow seen the originals of the letters from which you quoted?

Tilton.—He has and has made full and thorough comparisons. It has been charged that I garbled those letters. If I had done any such thing I should certainly have held myself up to the scorn and contempt of the public. After Mr. Winslow had inspected the letters he came into the room where I was. I said: John did I garble those letters?" He replied speaking slowly and with sad emphasis, "Why did Mr. Beecher write those letters?"

Reporter.—Will Moulton give the detailed statement to the public?

Tilton.—You know just as much about it as I do. Butler I think has advised Moulton not to give his proofs to the world unless they are wrung out of him. Now Winslow knows much of the case and we can afford to await developments. I repeat that I have told the truth in my sworn statement. I have been maligned terribly. All sorts of crimes have been laid at my door but not one word of explanation or defense have you heard from the other side. Now I can afford to take all this abuse, for I know that I am right and I know that I can prove it.

Reporter.—Judge Morris your counsel says you have not fired your biggest gun yet—is that true?

Tilton.—I hope to settle the case without being obliged to produce any more evidence.

Reporter.—Then you have more evidence in reserve?

Tilton.—I have.

Reporter.—You have heard the rumors to the effect that a compromise had been agreed upon. What have you to say on that?

Tilton.—When the paving stones blossom into roses, then I will compromise this case.

THE TERRITORIES.

The gamblers and thieves who have recently been cleaned out of Denver are making their appearance in Salt Lake.

Incomaites are now indulging in road panics for the purpose of constructing a good wagon road from the city out to the prairie.

Mr. John Rigney, living near Steilacoom had the misfortune last week to fall from his wagon and sustain some injury to his right hand.

The Sheriff of Thurston county undertook to levy on the goods of a farmer a few days ago but had to tie the farmer before he could do it.

The delegates from the several subordinate Granges P. of H. who met in Olympia last week organized a District Council and held a general consultation upon the workings of the Order, and the questions that affect them in that section.

At the election held in Montana on the 3d inst. Magginis (Dem.) was elected delegate to Congress by over 300 majority. The vote was largely in favor of the approval of the law locating the capital at Helena. The Legislative Assembly is Democratic by a small majority.

The Salt Lake Tribune of the 12th says: Dragoon Reeds of Santa Clara from the smuggle touched over the fellow to the bounding Mandan drew up in front of the Independent House yesterday and went through that law defying institution. We have a hot poker in store for them.

The expedition of Gen. Custer into the Black Hills country has revealed wonderous scope and richness of land. Every encroachment upon the untrodden regions confirms the same old story of fertility and productiveness which years ago was told of Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and all the vast region which now forms the great States from Plymouth Rock to the Missouri.

The Steilacoom Express says: Work will be commenced next week at the Penitentiary on this bay, in building a 24x30 house for the accommodation of officers and guards. A high plank fence will then surround the buildings, after which it is believed the United States prisoners will be removed to the new quarters. The building is to be finished on or before the 1st of November.

Mr. Aleck Henry who lives near South Bay, in the suburbs of Olympia, was badly hurt last Thursday August 13th. He was in front of his wagon taking the rack off, when the horse took fright and started to run. Mr. Henry became entangled and, was dragged some distance and knocked insensible by a kick from the horse. The [illegible] of his head and neck were cut and bruised seriously.

The Olympia Courier of last Saturday says: The greater part of the time this week in the Steilacoom Court has been occupied in disposing of motions of defaults etc. Yesterday the case of Lowry for killing Dudley at Tacoma was on trial and last night at 9 o'clock the jury retired to prepare a verdict. It is generally thought that he will not be found guilty of murder in the first degree.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: A regular militia guard has been established in the city with an office or rendezvous near the corner of First South and Second East streets. The detail under the command of an officer, is made every morning from Camp Douglas. This assumption on the part of the Federal authorities will of course, be set down by Brigham's flunkeys as an outrage upon the Kingdom of God and its fading dominion. Let us have peace at last.

The Bozeman, Montana Courier of the 27th ult. says: Indians, supposed to be Sioux and the same party that fingered in the vicinity of the Agency two or three weeks recently, and then apparently leaving again appeared in the Yellowstone valley Sunday. Parties coming in from that vicinity to Bozeman were first upon along the road and kept in the rear while the Indians came to within a mile of Bozeman and run off several large herds of horses, and even cut the picket ropes of horses around Fort Ellis and run them off. James Latta's herd of fifty horses which were grazing about a mile from town, were all captured. Messrs. Guy, Davis and Kotch, Mrs. King and others also lost several head each. What damage was done on the outside we have been unable to learn. Messrs. Hoppy, Everets and others from the Yellowstone, who fought their way in, were the first to give the news of the Indians being in the vicinity. They reached the Fort about 11 A. M. The Indians had then made their escape with the stolen stock. Capt. Ball with a company of cavalry immediately gave chase taking two days rations and was followed by a company of citizens. The Indians had several hours the start. Mr. Nelson Story who has a herd of about 700 head of horses on the Yellowstone was one of the citizen company. We have heard of two herders being either captured or killed. Their bodies had not been found up to the latest advices.

EMOTIONAL INSANITY IN AN ELEPHANT.

The largest of the camels in Central Park is dead. One day last week the elephant and camel were led close together under a tree. They were last seen before the tragedy in apparently amicable companionship. The camel was chewing his cud with dignity and forced on in placid and humpy as a section of the Rocky mountains. He seemed to be in deep and blushing thought. The elephant was outwardly not less calm. He was carelessly reaching out for blades of grass and flies and straddle bugs and drawing them into his mouth. He looked as though he was breathing because he was too lazy to stop.

Soon after the elephant and camel were seen thus together a storm burst northunder light ning and rain. When it was over the camel was found to be severely hurt. A blow in the face had crushed his lower jaw and blood was trickling down his six inches of lower lip. The elephant was endemably agitated. The camel's wound was dressed and he received the most careful attention but, in spite of all, lockjaw set in and he died.

The elephant has been moody and reserved since the terrible storm. It is believed by the Park police that he struck the blow with his trunk without any provocation whatever.

A reporter visited the Park yesterday and found the elephant chained to the staple in the ground. He was uneasy in confinement, tossing his trunk wildly and frequently bellowing his displeasure.—N. Y. Sun.

On Apropos of the President's recent visit to Hacken-sack, the Republican of that city says: There was one man who takes in the county, and happened in town for the first time in quite a while. He wanted to know what all the bunting was displayed for. He was informed that it was in honor of General Grant's visit. General Gr

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 10, 1874.

A CRUEL AND WICKED ORDER.

Under the cloak of a desire to administer the Government more economically, the oppressions of the office-holding class by certain Department officials at Washington, continue. Here is a specimen of refined cruelty in the shape of a circular order issued by the chief of one of the Treasury bureaus:

The attention of this office having been called to the fact that in some instances it has been the practice of Supervisors and Collectors to employ and pay as clerks their wives and minor children, thereby virtually increasing their own compensation to an amount greater than that provided by law; therefore the officers above mentioned are hereby notified that from and after August 1st the practice referred to will not be permitted by this Department.

No words of condemnation can too severely characterize the atrocity of this order. How are the office-holders to obtain the money necessary to run the politics of the country if their resources are thus cut off? It requires no merely nominal sums to "organize" a community, especially when it can't be organized without purchasing a large number of votes. The same principle of action which inspired this order would dismiss all the supernumeraries from every custom-house in the United States. Every nephew and every brother-in-law who draws a salary from the Government while pursuing his private business, would have to be thrown overboard to root like a pig or die like a dog. Imagine the application of such a wicked and merciless rule here in Oregon. It would demoralize the politics of the State, and bring many worthy people to want, or what would be almost as bad, to the necessity of engaging in some honest labor to gain a livelihood. Those who insist upon the enforcement of such rigid ideas in public affairs, are wanting in the breadth and grasp of intellect to comprehend the situation of the country. They appear not to recognize the truth that politics has become one of the distinct and distinguishing features of the nation, employing a vast number of people. The manipulations of caucuses, conventions, elections, and Legislatures, furnishes employment to thousands of skilled workmen and women, who, having no regular and stipulated wages, are compelled to rely upon such picking as they may be able to obtain in the way of official position or private reward. This makes the existence of a large number of sinecures and supernumeraries indispensable. Without them the great industry under consideration would be prostrated and paralyzed. It is to be hoped the narrow-minded policy that dictates such orders as those we have quoted above may be abandoned at once.

LEGAL DUELING.

The enlightened German intellect does not concur in the views which prevail in most of the States of this Republic with relation to the morality of the code of honor. While Americans draw the reins tighter and enact more and more stringent laws against the practice of settling misunderstandings by this absurd method, Germany relaxes her army regulations, which heretofore forbade affairs of honor, and instead of prohibiting duels mainly to regulate the system. A rule has been promulgated at Berlin for the formation of a "Council of Honor," before which any officer of the army, who deems himself entitled to demand satisfaction from a brother officer, may take his case. Upon information being thus laid before the Council the case is to be examined, and if there has been a real offense given, an endeavor is to be made by the Council to have the offending party make the amende honorable, and thus bring about a reconciliation. But in case this endeavor fail, then a duel is to be allowed, at which the presiding member of the Council is to be present. Officers fighting duels under these circumstances are to be exempt from criminal proceedings therefor. Such a regulation as this will doubtless appear to the best educated consciences of this country like legalizing murder; but it must be remembered that a duel in continental Europe is a very different affair from a duel in this country. There the weapons commonly used are pistols, and there is no such thing as tempering the attack, or parrying the deadly bullet. Nor is it considered that the engagement is necessarily ended when one party wounds the other. The American duel means a fight to the death. Not so in Europe. There the weapons ordinarily, if not universally in vogue are swords, and the combat is at an end by the recognized code the moment blood is drawn, though it be but a single drop. So a European duel is seldom fatal, and compared to its American offspring is a very trivial matter.

INGALLS.

A Kansas City dispatch of the 6th inst. gives a succinct statement of the charges against Senator Ingalls, taken from the Times. This statement is as follows:

The Kansas City Times, in its expose of John J. Ingalls, present United States Senator, states that he is said to have associated unlawfully with a Mrs. Benedict, who bore a child, and when Ingalls was married was restrained from creating trouble by his friends; that a woman in Olympia, Washington Territory, claims to have been married to him some years ago; that he has turned his brother-in-law away from home, leaving her in poverty, he having wealth; that he received $5,000 from a mercantile firm in Atchison for making its record good on the books of the Commercial Reporter; that he caused Pomeroy's election to the Senate by manufacturing votes, giving Pomeroy a majority of three; that he changed the resolutions prepared by the counsel of Osage settlers; that he was aware of York's conspiracy before it occurred, which would have driven him from the Senate; that Foster's appointment as United States Judge cost $3,000; that Schofield paid Ingalls $7,000, while he held office; that Pomeroy's trials were postponed by his giving the Ingalls ring a note for $10,000, and the York money $5,000. Extracts are published in the Times from Ingalls' private correspondence, in relation to the above matters. The article is fifteen columns.

There are some points in this case that very closely resemble those that have been publicly made and proved against one of Oregon's Senators, except that in the latter case there are circumstances of aggravation that do not occur in the former. Is there such a wide difference between the moral ideas that obtain in Kansas and those of Oregon, that acts which are passed over as of trifling importance here are there made the basis of serious charges demanding investigation and possible expulsion from the Senate. The people of Kansas, we take the liberty of saying, are taking on themselves rather too much when they assume to judge their public servants by such exalted standards of virtue. Oregon don't affect any such high tone, and recent events have shown that the Oregon idea on the subject is quite up to that of the U. S. Senate. If they can get nothing against Ingalls worse than his having a plurality of wives, kicking his mother-in-law out of doors, being a silent party to York's infamous conspiracy, paying or receiving money for office, and such trivial matters, we Oregonians can beat them out of sight, and not make any great fuss about it either.

HOW WILL IT AFFECT CHRISTIANITY?

Under the above caption, in an exchange, some remarks on the great scandal which now fills the newspapers and the public mind, which are so sensible, just and considerate that we are sure they will commend themselves to every thoughtful mind, Says the exchange:

It is not safe yet to venture a deliberate opinion as to how the unfortunate case of scandal now before the public will terminate. There can be but one right with in regard to the matter, and although the vindication of Mr. Beecher would stamp his accuser as one of the most viperous of slanderers, that result would be preferable to finding that under the guise of a minister of the Gospel a man, who, by his ministry, has made his name known almost all over the world, has been but a wolf in sheep's clothing. For the sake of our faith in human nature it would be far better that the accuser in this case be proved either insane or a false witness against his neighbor.

Still, justice should be done without fear or favor, and the accused, if guilty, ought to be convicted and forced to leave the work he has dishonored. To cloak and conceal his crime, if crime he has committed, in order that Christianity may not suffer would be false to Christianity itself. If the man highest on the walls of Zion has been untrue to his trust let him be hurled thence, that his fall may be a warning to those who would lightly venture upon the performance of those solemn duties to which the true watchman is called.

That the conviction of a Christian minister of such misconduct as is charged upon Mr. Beecher would affect the cause of Christianity in any essential degree can hardly be believed by that person to whom the Christian religion is a plan of God's ordaining. The eventual triumph of that religion over everything opposing it is an article of the Christian's faith. Its advance will be measured by the faith and perseverance of those whose work it is to carry forward the evangelization of the world. In this work every true Christian has a part. The true Christian will lose none of his faith in his religion because his fellow-worker has proved faithless, but will endeavor with all the more earnestness to demonstrate to the world that the man who has fallen does not prove by his fall any weakness in the religion he professed, but proves rather his own weakness.

The scoffer will exult, of course. The irreligious will boast that they do not set themselves up to be better than other men. Flippant tongues will rattle, and light heads will wag if Mr. Beecher is convicted. The opportunity will be a happy one for all these. But the sensible people, those who judge things by their merits, and go beyond outward seeming, these people, whether they be in favor of or opposed to Christianity, will not be affected against that system of religion though a Beecher were to fall every year. He through whom Christianity was revealed said that false teachers would come, and to the Christian the fall of even the brightest star in the firmament of the church militant should be but a fulfillment of the Master's prophecy. To the man outside of Christianity who carefully considers the matter, the fall of one reputed to be a Christian should prove no more against the system and its disciples than the dishonesty of a merchant proves against merchants as a class, or than the corruptness of one man proves against all humanity. Where religion looks with most hope for its gains, among the strong-headed, right-hearted men and women of the world, no permanent harm can be done to its cause if the worst should come and the brightest pulpit light in America be lost in a cloud of shame."

That Vicksburg election, over which Gov. Ames came near getting himself into a premature grave, came off according to programme, and there were no dreadful massacres nor brutal outrages. Everything was peaceful and serene, and what was called the white man's ticket was elected by a majority of four hundred. It seems to have been a square fight between the races, a few colored men voting with the majority, and only four white men voting the negro ticket.

Correction.—The correspondent who sent us the item published in yesterday's paper relative to the ill treatment of a lady by a conductor of the O. & C. R. R., sends us a correction. It was not Mr. Stephens, but a conductor by the name of Hurdy, who committed the wrong. Our correspondent hastens, in justice to Mr. Stephens, to make the correction.

We acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary invitation to attend the Ninth Industrial Exhibition of the Mechanics Institute of San Francisco, which is to be held to-day. WITH CLINE'S PATENT SLATE-ROOFING PAINT, which is both FIRE and WATER-PROOF. For Tin and Iron it has no equal, as it expands by heat and contracts by cold, and never Cracks or Scales.

Shingle Roofs can be made practically FIRE-PROOF against Sparks and flying Embers, after the paint has had time to dry, as has been thoroughly tested. The Paint has a heavy body; no Tar is used in its composition, and one coat is equal to three of ordinary paint.

It fills up all holes in Shingles, Tin or Felt Roofs, and Stops Every Leak.

Two Gallons will cover 100 square feet of Shingle, or over 100 feet of Tin Roof.

Impure Water.—The possessor of a good well of clear cold water is to be envied by those who are compelled to drink the impurities of the water drawn from the Willamette, but when old owners of well complain of impure water pumped from wells which have heretofore given the genuine article, it naturally leads one to inquire into the cause. Our attention was called yesterday, to the matter, and to make assurance doubly sure we accompanied a reporter all the North End to a house which is situated on the block south of the Episcopal church on the corner of Sixth and Everett streets. He pumped from his well which has always been highly commended for its excellence, a glass full of the fluid and we, and three friends, partook of it. It sparkled in the glass, and on standing, a scent of the water we discovered a very plain indication of gas emanating from it. We concluded to investigate further and accompanied the gentleman to a neighboring house west of the gas holder, where we tested the water drawn from the well on the premises with the same result. Other results in the immediate vicinity complained of the disagreeable taste of water drawn from their wells. At first they had visions of lead rocks in the water but finally they came to the conclusion that the thing was impregnated with the foul water which is confined between the reservoir and the salt water rounding it, which finds its way through the ground to the wells in the vicinity. Upon making further inquiries about the water drawn from the wells we were informed that in cases have been allowed to stand several hours and upon the surface of the water a gas substance would appear which had the appearance of coal oil. Some of the residents have discontinued the use of well water and wood pipes to be laid to the water mains to insure a supply of better water. The matter has become a serious one with the people living in the vicinity of the gas-holder, and will be brought to lay their grievances with the Council at its first meeting. We clearly indicate the feeling expressed by the residents in that vicinity on account of the quality of water the wells now furnish them.

Valuable Jewelry Stolen.—On Thursday night a bold burglary was committed at the residence of a lady situated near Sixth and Taylor streets. Early during the evening the lady of the house and a sister went out to attend several lectures, leaving at the house of a friend. During the absence of the inmates the house was entered by burglars. Twenty four dollars and seventy five cents in silver and about $300 worth of jewelry consisting of rings, ear rings, bracelets, breastpins etc. For-tunately the lady wore her diamonds—valued at about $1 000—on that evening. She started from home without them and after having got a little distance, changed her mind, went back and put the diamonds on. The thieves effected an entrance by prying off the lock from one of the back doors. When the lady returned home late in the evening she entered the front door and was not apprised of her loss until the next morning. On arising next morning she imagine her surprise on perceiving the door lock broken off and subsequently on examining the premises closely, discovered the loss of her highly prized and valuable jewelry. A solution can be extracted from the most encouraging circumstances, and the lady congratulates herself on the narrow escape of her diamonds.

Under Arrest.—Last November during the sitting of the U S grand jury a man known as John Cook and a woman answering as his wife, were jointly indicted for the crime of selling liquor without having paid the special tax. At the time neither party was under arrest. By some means, Cook and the woman ahead of the proceedings instituted against them, and managed to elude the vigilance of the officers and got away. Several weeks ago information came to the ears of the officers that the parties were again in the vicinity of the city. Saturday forenoon, Cook was tracked and taken into custody. Through information obtained from him it was learned that the woman was living about six miles below the city on the west bank of the river in a small log cabin. An officer was sent at once and succeeded in capturing her. She was brought up yesterday, and at 11 o clock was lodged in jail. The bonds were placed at $200 each. Cook gave the required security and was released. Up to present writing, the woman had failed to furnish bonds.

Arrested for Larceny.—On complaint of Wm Tom Mountain, a German giving his name as Bouerbach was arrested yesterday, charged with the larceny of a pair of pants. It seems that Bouerbach was not a member of the Portland Light Battery, but on the occasion of the celebration of the Fourth he volunteered his services to fill up an existing vacancy in the rank. His services were accepted and a suit of clothes furnished him to make a presentable appearance. When the day was over Bouerbach forgot to return the pants to the armory. He removed the stripes from the pants and carried them away with him. Before he left the city for Germany, with the property, a few days ago the Germans returned when Captain Mountain procured his arrest. Yesterday morning the case was called in the Police Court but with the consent of counsel it was continued until to day.

Last Days of Grace.—Tax payers are respectfully requested to bear in mind that the books of the County Assessor will positively be closed on Saturday next at 5 o clock P M. All property which has not been reported as required to the Assessor will be assessed according to law. Assessor Dolan will be in his office on Friday and Saturday of the present week when he will be pleased to receive all statements which have not been handed in before. To avoid unpleasant difficulties as to the valuation of property let every tax payer who has thus far neglected to do so, prepare his sworn statement and give Mr Dolan a call. He is required to close up the books promptly at the County Board of Equalization will meet on the 31st of August and the process of adjusting the taxes commence.

Under Sentence.—A man named Williams who was arrested last week at Astoria on a charge of illegally trapping fur, was found guilty and subsequently sentenced to the Penitentiary for one year. He arrived in this city yesterday in custody of Sheriff Twiight. Officer and prisoner took the afternoon train for Salem yesterday and on this, Williams has become a citizen of that recruit of the Raddeon Brigade.

Woman Suffrage.—The Multnomah County Woman Suffrage Association will hold a public meeting in Good Templar's Hall corner of Third and Alder streets on Wednesday evening of this week. A number of spirited addresses are promised and opposition is solicited. A pleasant time is anticipated. The public is cordially invited. Exercises to commence at half past 7.

What has become of the late project of building bridge across the Willamette?

Some hundreds broke into the basement of the house occupied by O. P. Bell the other night. No one being able to open the door they broke it down. Nothing of value was stolen.

A party of gentlemen on of this city started yesterday morning for Clear Lake, Linn county, upon a hunting and fishing excursion. They intend remaining out about ten days.

Last Days of Grace.—Tax payers are respectfully requested to bear in mind that the books of the County Assessor will positively be closed on Saturday next at 5 o clock P M. All property which has not been reported as required to the Assessor will be assessed according to law. BOARD OF TRADE.

A MEETING HELD BY THE MERCHANTS AND BUSINESS MEN OF THE CITY FOR THE PURPOSE OF REORGANIZING A BOARD OF TRADE

During the past two weeks the following call has been in circulation among the merchants of the city and has received the signature of all of the leading business firms:

We the undersigned believing that the commerce of Portland both foreign and inland has attained such proportions that those engaged in it can subserve their individual interest as well as the general social and prosperity by having some means of concerted and united action of the opinion that an association resembling a Chamber of Commerce or a Board of Trade of other cities should be organized here.

Pursuant to said call a large number of our leading business men assembled last evening at Ankeny's Hall for the purpose set forth in the above call.

Col. John A. P. Ankeny called the meeting to order and stated that the first action to be taken was the selection of a Chairman.

Mr Edwin Russell moved that P C Shirley Esq act as Chairman of the meeting which motion prevailed.

On motion P Quackenbush was chosen Secretary.

Mr Schuyler stated that it would be wholly unnecessary to take up the time of the meeting in explaining the object for which they had assembled. The objects sought to be accomplished by the meeting were fully set forth in the call.

By request the Secretary proceeded to read the call and the signatures attached.

Mr E Russell arose and stated that he held in his hand a copy of the Constitution and By Laws adopted on the 7th of July 1869 by the Portland Board of Trade organized during that year. He had carefully examined the same and was of the opinion that it would answer all the purposes of the new Board an effort to reorganize which was now being made.

Mr H C Leonard said that he had not examined the copy referred to by Mr Russell for a long time. Times and circumstances were greatly changed since the organization of the old Board of Trade. He would like to hear the Constitution and By Laws read again and supposed that there were many others present who were doubtless in the same condition. By hearing it read the meeting would be able to act more intelligently in the matter.

By general request the Secretary proceeded to read the Constitution as printed and adopted by the old Board.

At the close of the reading Mr Russell moved the adoption of the Constitution as a whole. The motion was seconded.

Mr James Laidlaw said he hoped that Mr Russell's motion would not prevail. Such action in his opinion, would be rather hasty. A permanent organization ought first to be effected and the Constitution and By laws were adopted. He was unassociated as to the precise character of the Board sought to be organized. He did not know whether it was designed to be a Board of Trade or a Produce Exchange. Would it not be well to appoint a Committee who should determine the character scope and object of the new Board and to draft a suitable Constitution. That would be the wiser course to adopt.

Mr Schuyler suggested that Mr Laidlaw's views on the subject met with his own. He regarded the adoption of the old Constitution at the present juncture as precipitate. It would be the best way to appoint a Committee who should report at a subsequent meeting.

Mr H W Corbett was of the opinion that the old Constitution as read was too elaborate and lengthy to meet the demands of the new organization. Like others present, he thought that it might be materially abridged simplified and revised so as to meet the views of the members and answer the demands of the new Board. A new Constitution might be drafted and substituted in place of the old.

Mr Russell stated that with the consent of his second, he would withdraw his motion for the adoption of the old Constitution. The second signified his willingness to do so, and the motion was accordingly withdrawn.

Capt Ankeny desired to know if it would be in order for the meeting to proceed to the election of permanent officers.

The Chairman was of the opinion that such action just at that time, would hardly be advisable.

Mr Lancaster arose and after reading the call desired to have some definite information as to the real aims and objects of the meeting. The call stated that the object of the meeting was to secure more united and concerted action among the business men of the city. It did not set forth how or by what means such results were to be secured. If those gentlemen who had taken initiatory steps in the movement would explain what they proposed to do he would be greatly obliged.

Mr Corbett moved that a committee of five persons be appointed to draft a new Constitution and By-laws, and also to determine whether it should be a Board of Commerce, Trade or Produce Exchange. Said Committee to report at an adjourned meeting. He moved that the committee be instructed to submit their report on Saturday evening.

Captain Ankeny thought that the Committee could be ready to submit a report before Saturday evening. He moved that when the meeting adjourned it should meet again on Wednesday evening. The motion so prevailed.

The Chairman announced the following gentlemen who should constitute the Committee: Messrs H W Corbett, Wm Reed, Isaac White, Jas Laidlaw and C H Lewis.

Captain Ankeny moved that the Committee be empowered to fill any vacancy which might exist.

On motion the meeting adjourned until Wednesday evening.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.

On Saturday forenoon a meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon Shipping Storage and Commission Company was held at Good Templar's Hall.

An organization was effected by the election of the following officers: President A J Dufur, Vice President Grechbury Smith, Secretary T J Matlock.

The following Directors were chosen: Greenbury Smith Benton county; D B Babcock, Polk; A J Dufur, Multnomah; L D C Lafayette; Clackamas; S Coffin, Marion; W M Powers, Linn; M. Wakeman, Lane.

It was ordered that an assessment of 50 per cent be paid on the capital stock within 30 days from date.

The Directors will meet on the 1st of September to transact business relative to the Company.

A meeting of the stockholders will be held on the 1st of November for the purpose of increasing the capital stock.

The Directors ordered that all moneys received on the capital stock be deposited in the bank of Ladd & Tilton subject only to the order of the Board.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Order of Good Templars for the use of their Hall.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Twenty-Second Annual Conference

Fifth Day

MORNING SESSION

Conference met pursuant to adjournment. Divine service conducted by Rev J Hall by reading the 15th chapter of First Corinthians, singing the Old Hundred and prayer.

The minutes of Saturday were read and approved.

It was moved that the charges preferred against Rev I D Driver be taken up. The motion was unanimously carried.

The Committee stated that a report from the committee to whom was referred the charges and specifications preferred against Rev Wm Miller were ready to render.

Rev Mr Mann who was appointed as counsel to represent the Church stated that the committee were ready to submit their report in the case.

Rev M Todd Chairman of the committee stated that all the papers and testimony were in the hands of Mr Lowe the Secretary who was not present. He could report verbally. He stated that the committee after a careful searching examination of the charges came to the conclusion that none of them had any foundation in fact and therefore ought not to be sustained. The report of the committee exonerated Mr McElhenys from the charges.

Bishop Merrill stated that a verbal report having been submitted all that remained for the Conference to do would be to direct the Secretary of the committee to hand the minutes of the Secretaries of the Conference and to discharge the committee from further consideration of the subject which was done.

It was moved and carried that the charges preferred against the Rev I D Driver be taken up.

Rev I T Woodward moved that the consideration of the charges be referred to the usual disciplinary committee of nine.

Mr Driver stated that he earnestly desired to have the charges investigated before the whole Conference and not before a committee.

On this point considerable discussion arose in which Revs Spaulding, Woodward and Parrish and J Q Thornton participated.

Gov A C Gibbs appeared and stated to the Conference that he would appear as counsel for the defendant in the case.

Rev I W York called for the reading of the charges and specifications preferred which was done by the Secretary.

After the reading of the charges Mr Woodward stated that he would withdraw his motion to refer the matter to a committee of nine with the consent of his second.

Mr Nickerson was of the opinion that Mr Woodward could not withdraw the motion as it had already been debated.

The main question was then put. Shall the charges be referred to a committee? which was then voted down.

It was moved that the consideration of the charges against Mr Driver be made the special order of the day at 2 o clock.

Much discussion was indulged in at the point among the members as to the time when the charges should be investigated. The motion to take the matter up at 2 o clock was voted down, and it was determined to proceed to the investigation of the bill of charges at once.

A protracted discussion arose as to the propriety as to the appointment of counsel to represent the Church in the prosecution of the case. Several names were nominated but for stated reasons declined to enter in that capacity. At length, Rev T F Royal was chosen with the privilege of calling an associate to assist him at any time when necessary. Subsequently Rev C W Todd was called to assist in the prosecution.

By special request, Revs I W. Miller and J N D Dennison were excused from sitting in the case.

Rev Wallace Hurlburt who has for many years been identified with the United Brethren Church of Christ having presented satisfactory evidences of good character, qualifications etc, and answered the usual questions was admitted to the M E Church and into full traveling connection as an Elder.

The consideration of the charges against Mr Driver was resumed. The remainder of the forenoon session was consumed in reading the charges and specifications. The first charge—that of falsehood—was taken up and the first ten specifications read. J Quinn Thornton who appeared in the dual capacity of prosecuting witness and associate counsel read the specifications in detail. Gov Gibbs counsel for the defendant, demurred at length to each specification. The charges read are too voluminous to admit of publication and the disputations which were indulged in by opposing counsel and several other members, were of too great length and small moment to be of any possible interest to the reading public, or to any one else but those immediately concerned. Up to the hour of adjournment very little progress was made in the trial which from present appearances promises to be of tedious length.

A little after 12 o clock the Conference adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Conference convened promptly at 2 o clock P M. the Bishop in the chair.

The session was opened with singing, followed by prayer in which Rev N Clark led.

The minutes of the forenoon session were read and approved.

The consideration of the case of Rev I D Driver was resumed. The defendant's counsel had a motion pending at the time of adjournment.

The motion was signed by Gov Gibbs and Messrs Driver and Parrish for, and Judge Thornton and Messrs Shaw and Spalding against. The motion was submitted to the Chair, and he referred it to the Conference, who proceeded to act on the specification.

The defendant having pleaded not guilty to the general charge and to the specifications, the witnesses appeared to be ready for the prosecution of testimony and counsel for the prosecution offered what he called the depositions of witnesses which had been taken at Albany. Counsel for defendant objected, and filed a motion to strike the depositions from the files, on the ground that the notice given the defendant as to the time and place of taking them was insufficient and that they were not taken before a properly authorized person. The motion was argued at length by both sides and though at one time admitted that the notice was insufficient and the person before whom they were taken was unauthorized it was decided that the depositions so called could be read in evidence, not as legal depositions but as a sort of ex parte statements to be given the weight to which they were entitled. This ruling may seem a little paradoxical to those who are accustomed to the manner of proceedings in our civil courts, but the same rules governing the latter could hardly be enforced in an ecclesiastical tribunal.

Judge Thornton on the part of the prosecution then read the statements of Messrs Wishburn and Westfall of Albany, to the effect that the defendant had stated in the presence of witnesses that Mr Shaw should secure distinct lies in the case. Shaw had been directed to them before the Official Board and other matters pertaining to and bearing directly upon the case.

During the reading of the statements, forenoon session of the Conference adjourned till 8 30 A M to-day.

The Museum gives entire satisfaction. Every one is surprised to see so large a collection.

TILLAMOOK BAY AND VALLEY.

A gentleman just from that portion of the State gives us the following, respecting the extent and resources of Tillamook:

The Bay of Tillamook which is one of the finest land sheets of water of equal extent found on the coast is seven miles in length by five in width. It is bounded on the north east by a valley bearing the same name containing about seven or eight sections consisting principally of prairie land. The soil is very fertile. Garibaldi a small seaport situated on the north side of the Bay one mile from the ocean. This place has a population of seventy inhabitants. The population of the entire valley is estimated at 200 souls, one hundred of whom are inhabitants of Lincolnville a small village situated at the head of Tillamook Bay. The harbor is navigable only for small schooners. The principal products are butter, cheese and poultries. Dairying is carried on to a very considerable extent at present. The cultivation of the various species of fruit succeeds well. The grasses on the tide lands afford excellent pasturage for sheep, cattle and horses. Stock thrives well during the year round. Good health is generally enjoyed at present and the people only die ones in that climate as elsewhere. The people of Tillamook have been greatly benefited by the opening of a wagon road from North Yamhill over the coast range of mountains a distance of 25 miles. The little sloop Minnie F. Hutchins conveys passengers from Lincolnville to Garibaldi a distance of 11 miles. One dollar is charged for the trip. She is a staunch little craft and well suited to the demands of trade and travel. Capt Sampson is the owner and master of the sloop.

JUMPING AFTER A STEAMER.—A resident of New Haven having occasion to visit New York started for the steamer's landing with a carpet sack in one hand and a cane in the other in what he supposed to be ample time. But when he came within sight of the wharf he observed the boat apparently swinging away from her moorings and amid the shouts and jeers of the bystanders he broke into a frantic run for the landing. The boat was eight or ten feet from the wharf when he reached the place where he had hoped to find a gang plank but nothing daunted and trusting to the momentum acquired during the run he leaped into the air and landed on the vessel's deck. Not without accident however. The carpet bag struck one passenger sprawling in the stomach of another doubled up like a jack knife, and absorbed a whole flask of brandy in getting strangulated, while the cane struck another man in the face with sufficient force to induce him to go down on his knees to look after his hat. When he had recovered it the man who had occasioned all this commotion, said to him in a tone of mingled apology and congratulation "Well I made it!" "Yes you did" said the sore headed passenger "but you old fool this boat ain't going out she's coming in!"

According to the newspaper biographies of him Theodore Tilton was born in twelve places in Massachusetts seven places in Connecticut two places in New Jersey and all over New York. He was more born than to be born with yet with al to judge from the great catalysis it would do him no hurt in the world to be born again.

Stick, Wolfont Confess.—Old Swelkins of Capitol Hill, carried home a copy of Griffith Gaunt to Mrs Swelkins yesterday and demanded a confession. He was last seen at Dodge's drug store buying court plaster to fix up something worse than the ragged edge of anxiety.—Washington Chronicle.

A new enterprise has been started on Long Tom. It is an elk hide harness shop. The best feature in this kind of harness is that any pair will fit the smallest rabbit or the largest elephant just as well according as the atmosphere is dry or moist.

Bishop Whipple says that when he preaches to the Indians of their tendency to drunkenness he is instantly met by the assertion that there is not an Indian on earth that can manufacture a drop of liquor.

Some people will gourmandize and then wonder why they feel bad about the head and tongue. The coats of the stomach were not made like the coats of a dog's stomach, and he is wise who does not give the former the best of care. Ayer's Cathartic Pills are the best regulator of the system. Over all the world they are recognized as the best remedy for all derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels which may be in it in every part of the world.

Rooms.—In the more perfectly known and fashionable stables, the stalls are made as open as possible, and many gentlemen of whom keep the most splendid equipages, have their horses' heads project into the passage. Mustang Liniment is the most valued remedy known for all injuries to animals. Beware of worthless imitations and counterfeits. Ask for Mustang Liniment and take no other. It has been tested thirty years and never yet been superseded by any worthless article. When you sell the first thing a farmer wants to buy is a bottle of Mustang Liniment. Only those horses or cattle are selling is this Mustang Liniment.

The regular use of Hagan's Magnolia Balm removes all discolorations, sallowness, freckles and pimples, and renders the skin clear, healthy and beautiful. Ask your druggist for it. Beware of worthless imitations. See that the name Hagan's Magnolia Balm is blown in the glass. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Beautiful Hair! Talk as one may, there is great beauty in a luxuriant head of hair. It was ever thus from childhood to old age. History repeats itself in every age as in all things else. The difference between the Saxon and Norman, the swell and the merry Englishman, the Puritan and Cavalier, is distinctly marked in their different contrasts of wearing the hair. The ladies of those days, in spite of all fashionable dictates, will have it curly—it will head off baldness, strengthen imbecility. This can now be secured by the use of LYON KATHAIRON the finest hair dressing in the world.

Chief Justice Chase's Estate.—The estate of Chief Justice Chase, settlement of which has been slow owing, to a disinclination of the executor to sell his stocks and other personal property during the period of depression will amount when all his debts are paid to about $105 000. Some of the securities including 100 shares in the Pennsylvania Central railway, have just been sold to pay small creditors who were pressing. The estate owes the City Bank $1 25 000 on notes indorsed on Cooke and Mrs Hart Judge Chase's daughter, $8 000.—Philadelphia Ledger.

In the old mode, when men count the coin before paying, and carefully scan the sum, is conclusive evidence that money had to be earned and a man is thankful for what spare change he has. Now-a-days men do not count their money, but hand it out carelessly. He wants to know where he can get the most for his money, and the merchant who can tell him where he will find it, and convince him that he will find it every time, is the merchant who will secure his custom. Such a merchant is Mr. Wortman.

Travelers' Testimony

Thousands of travelers by land and sea have vouched for the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a preventive of the pestilential disturbances which ordinarily arise from change of climate and the changes of ice, water &c. incident to a wandering life. Upon systems toned, invigorated and regulated by this genial vegetable antidote the extremest degrees of debility and disease seem to produce little or no effect. Forewarned with Hostetter's Bitters the voyager may bid defiance to seasickness and encounter the chilling fogs of the British Isles, the coast winds of the Antilles, the icy temperature of northern Alaska, or the burning heat of the tropics with equal impunity. The effect of this admirable medicine is stimulant; it greatly to increase the vital energy of the system thereby enabling it to resist and repel the exciting causes of disease.

A CONSTANT COUGH with Shortness of Breath, Failing Strength and Wasting of Flesh, all betoken Lung trouble more or less seriously affected, and demanding prompt treatment. By using Dr Jayne's Expectorant serious results may be either avoided or palliated.

STONEHENGE

A London correspondent of the Edinburgh Scotsman writing under recent date says

Within the past few days I have been informed of a remarkable spectacle that was witnessed on midsummer's morning at Stonehenge I am not aware that in any work on these megalithic circles reference is made, however remotely, to what I am now about to mention On the morning in question a party of Americans, who had left London for the purpose visited Stonehenge for the purpose of witnessing the effects of the sunrise on this particular morning They were not a little surprised to find that instead of having the field all to themselves as they had expected, a number of people from all parts of the country-side, principally belonging to the poorer classes, were already assembled on the spot Inquiries failed to elicit any intelligible reason for this extraordinary early turnout of the population, except this that a tradition, which had trickled down through any number of generations, told them that at Stonehenge something unusual was to be seen at sunrise on the morning of Summer solstice This piece of rustic information put my informant who is of an antiquarian turn of mind, on the qui vive. Stonehenge may roughly be described as composing seven eighths of a circle, from the open ends of which there runs eastward an avenue having long upright stones on either side At some distance beyond this avenue But in a direct line with its center, stand one solitary stone on a sloping position in front of which, but at a considerable distance, is an eminence or hill The point of observation chosen by the excursion party was the center of the table or altar or the head of and within the circle directly looking down the avenue. The morning was unfavorable but fortunately just as the sun was beginning to appear over the top of the hill the mists disappeared, and there for a few moments the on lookers stood amazed at the phenomenon presented to their view While at last the sun like an immense ball appeared actually to rest on the isolated stone of which mention has been made or quote the quaint, though prosaic description of one present, "it was like a big pudding in the center of the stone."

Another very important fact mentioned by an elderly gentleman who had resided for many years in the neighborhood, was that on the setting of the sun at the Winter solstice a similar phenomenon was observable in the direction of certain other stones to the westward Here, then, is the very remarkable fact that the axis of the avenue of stonehenge accurately coincides with the sun's rising at the Summer solstice and that another line laid down in the arrangement of the stones coincides with the setting sun at the Winter solstice Unless it is conceivable that this nice orientation is the result of chance—which would be hard to believe—the inference is justifiable that the builders of Stonehenge and other rude stone monuments of a like description had a special design in view in erecting these cromlechs or circles, or whatever the names antiquarians may give them and that they are really the manifestations of the Realistic or sun worship professed by the early inhabitants of Great Britain, a species of idolatory at one time almost universal in Ireland and to which the round towers of that country amply testify This, of course, is returning to the opinion originally entertained as to the use and purposes of these early and widely scattered monuments and is at total variance with the opinion of so great an authority as James Ferguson who, in his work entitled "Rude Stone Monuments in all Countries and Ages, disposes alike of the geological antiquarian theory which considers these stone monuments as an evidence of the progressive development of man from primeval savagedom, as well as that which ascribed their origin to the Druids whose temples they were supposed to be. If, according to Ferguson they were hastily erected trophies of victories, and set up by Argle who lived in the very darkest epoch of our history—viz, from 400 A. D to 900 A. D—not the least extraordinary characteristic then, which Stonehenge possesses is the marvelous precision of its orientation One cannot help wondering how, under such circumstances, this could have happened

HORRIBLE DEATH

[From the Athens (Tenn.) Post]

A distiller named Jones who lived with his family near the lower bench of the Big Smoky Mountain, had been annoyed a good deal by the revenue rangers last fall, and determined to change his location and business to a more secluded spot

To carry out this purpose he selected the head of a deep gorge some four miles distant, walled in with cliffs, where, during the winter assisted by some of his friends he erected a log building As soon as the cold weather was over and the spring fairly opened, the still and other things were moved to the place, and the work of violating the revenue laws was resumed. Several runs were made, and Jones began to congratulate himself that he had at last found a refuge beyond the prying eyes of the government hirelings, where he could pursue his avocation in peace.

The still house being some distance from where his family lived, Jones rarely visited them more than once in a fortnight Everything went on well enough until about four weeks ago when he failed to appear at the accustomed time

Nothing was thought of this for a day or two but when another week elapsed without the return of Jones the family became alarmed, and thought that he had been captured by revenue jayhawks and carried to Knoxville or some other place where violators of the law are occasionally convicted and punished Alarm was given through the sparsely settled neighborhood A number of men gathered and accompanied by Mrs J and her son a youth of 10 or 12 years of age they started up the gorge in the direction of the stillhouse On reaching the building they found the door closed and fastened and no sign of Jones or any one else could be seen Mrs J called the name of her husband several times, no response, however, came back to relieve her anxiety But upon attempting to force an entrance they were greeted with those peculiar notes of warning which the ear of the East Tennessee mountaineer never fails to recognize The door was at once broken down, and a sight met them that caused all to start with fright and horror

The form of the distiller lay upon the floor with eyes starting from their sockets, the features horribly distorted and body swollen to twice its usual proportions, while the interior of the building was alive with rattlesnakes some in coil and ready for battle, but the larger portion stupid and inert as though they had been imbibing liberally of the illicit fruit of the still The mother and son fled horror-stricken from the place A consultation was had and as it was impossible to rescue the body of poor Jones without incurring fearful risk it was determined to reclose the entrance and other apertures and fire the building which was done The party stayed until the house was entirely consumed, and nothing remained but the now useless still and the calcined bones of the miserable distiller

It is supposed that Jones had built his manufactory close upon a den of the deadly reptiles in the overhanging cliff and that attracted by the heat, or possibly the fumes of the whisky, they found their way into the building in large numbers after he had closed the door and lay down to sleep

BEECHER'S CHILDREN.—Henry Beecher the pastor's eldest son is living with his family in his father's house on the Heights He is in the insurance business in the firm of Beecher & Benedict on Court street Brooklyn He is past 50 and was a Colonel in the late war The second son, William, is a Yale graduate, about 48 years old and studying in a Brooklyn law office Herbert is 18 is the youngest of the family and is an under graduate of Amherst College. The only daughters are Mrs Harriet Scoville the wife of a minister in Norwich New York Henry Beecher's wife is the sister of his partner and the daughter of Benedict a resident of the Heights Mr and Mrs Beecher have buried two or three young children

GEN O O HOWARD.—A very pleasant affair took place last evening at the residence of General Howard on University Hill. Many of the students alumni and friends of the University were assembled to take a formal farewell of the General prior to his early departure for his new post of duty on the Pacific coast, and they presented him with a solid silver ice-cream service of the most exquisite design The presentation was made by Wm Waring a graduate of the law department who made a lengthy address which was appropriately responded to by General Howard —Bait Chron de August 5th

Wheat in Liverpool by mail advices from San Francisco, 10s 3d@11s 5d for average California and 11s 7d@12s 3d for club

The reasonable rates of interest and discount heretofore noticed seem to have no effect to reduce the usual supply of available funds in our home market, and first-class paper can be placed with good readiness, either at the banks or with outside parties. Real estate is freely taken but cannot be considered in as great favor as other securities which can be handled with more convenience

From the East we have encouraging news concerning the prospects of the fall trade for which the country everywhere is rapidly preparing The moneyed institutions are all full handed Savings banks report their deposits accumulating and their loans on real estate being paid off with greater rapidity than during last season As their depositors are generally working men and mechanics and their borrowers usually small property holders, this is the more surprising as the general impression is that this class of the community have had to call on the accumulated earnings of the past to bridge over the dull and idle days of the summer

The chief interest in the new currency law now centers in the redemption of mutilated and defaced currency The system seems to be doing its work well and already the amount of clean notes in circulation is perceptibly increased and the defaced and ragged currency with which we have been familiar for the past few years is disappearing

The Treasurer has decided that the five per cent reserve on circulation must originally be made in legal tenders but that any call for additional amounts to make it good may be made with bank notes. This is a very reasonable decision inasmuch as it is simply equivalent to the banks sending on so much in bank notes for redemption and then depositing the greenbacks received in exchange as a part of the reserve. Nevertheless it is easy to see that if all the banks sent in notes for this purpose the Treasury stock of greenbacks is very likely soon to be exhausted.

The Crops

Everywhere in our state the advent of clear weather is hailed with thankfulness and farmers whose courage was much cast down a week ago by the protracted rains and cloudy skies now look forward with perfect confidence to the time when their crops shall be safely housed Threshing will be again renewed on an enlarged scale, the headers will be started up and before the week closes, hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain now in the stalk will be ready for shipment should the weather remain as fair as it now bids The damage done by the rains of the first half of the current month will not be extensive as there was an occasional day of sunshine intervening the showers though the grand total of fruitless wheat has doubtless been reduced a few thousand bushels

The July returns of the Department of Agriculture give the following information respecting the crops

The condition of corn is generally good in the West but somewhat variable. Only Massachusetts of the Eastern States reports average condition, only Pennsylvania of the Middle States and Maryland south Carolina, Georgia Florida and Texas of the Southern States Minnesota is an exception in the West and California and Oregon fall to give a full average There is an estimated increase in the corn area amounting to 1 000 000 acres or 6 per cent above that of last year

The average condition of winter wheat for the whole country is 104. The most favorable conditions of growth were found in several of the States in which other crops suffered most severely In the Middle States the crop was generally above average and in the States north of the Ohio in early or quite average. Ohio, however, has been generally prevailed shows the highest average 108 The fruitz wheat from seed furnished by the Department is favorably reported in Chester Pennsylvania, but rusted badly and yielded lightly in Talbot and Calvert Maryland

Spring wheat shows a general average of 98 In New England it was on the whole considerably above average though backward in several counties In the few counties growing this crop in the Middle States it is below average In Ohio we breaks, and on the Pacific coast the crop was above average. In the Northwestern States it especially suffered from the ravages of chinch bugs and other insects In several counties of Indiana this insect was demonstrating seriously Illinois reports numerous districts of similar character, and in districts of Wisconsin where droughts prevailed the same misfortune is noted In several localities in Iowa timely rains destroyed the young insects and saved the crops from their ravages but did still affect considerable damage had been done The grasshoppers were also injurious here In Missouri the chinch nuisance was quite serious The chinch also infested the spring wheat of Kansas. In Nebraska, where the pest did not appear the crop was above average In one or two counties an aversion to improved machinery for harvesting is noted farmers preferred hiring, extra labor to purchasing reapers and mowers In some localities of California the crops was affected by hot dry weather and north winds. In some counties of Oregon heavy rains produced a heavy growth which it was feared might prove excessive In Utah the crop was injured by cut worms

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—This cereal of the new crop is coming in very slowly for sale Buyers do not seem to urge the market although there are now in the river five foreign bound vessels supposed to have come here seeking cargoes of wheat and four of them under charter prior to arrival A few sales have been effected during the week at $1 42½ per cental and we may expect some movements ere long if exporters are to make a concession to the difference which now exists between them and holders but if the latter are to give way the trade will be dull for some time, None of the vessels here have yet begun to load

FLOUR—The stocks are small but owing to a diminished demand for shipping caused by the upcoming of the product of the new wheat in Call it suits the requirements of the trade here are easily met A good article of extra is in full supply jobbing at $4 85 @ 5 but but a few brands of slam hard qualities are held at $5 50 Common country make is in the market in fair quantities for the season at $4 75@5 fine to superfine quotable at $4 50@4 60

OATS—The market is inactive in this cereal and receipts are falling off the shipping demand is rather duller The quotations furnished are 3½@3¾c per bushel The new crop is everywhere reported as yielding well and prices are not likely to depreciate than advance The local demand is well supplied from the stocks on hand in current receipts

BARLEY—But very few transactions are noted and those mostly to supply the local demand for brewing Best lots are worth $1 45@1 50 per ctl in the yard sacks inferior $1 10@1 40 for feed.

FEED—The stocks on hand here are quite small compared with former periods in the season but are still a requisite to the current demand which is almost entirely local and as always is at this time in the summer Sales are slow at the current rates which are $12 @ ton for bran shorts $1 ctl chopped middlings etc $30

HAY—There is a great abundance of the new crop of timothy offering at $16@18 a ton baled or $8 50@9 50 loose from wagons The demand is light except for local consumption is very dull.

POTATOES—There is no lack either in quantity or variety of the new crop now coming to hand Prices range from 1½@2c @ pound.

ONIONS—Choice yellow of the new crop command 2 cents @ lb but common lots are quotable at 1½ cents The receipts are limited

BACON—The demand for good sale meats is still brisk and the supply rather short at the moment Hams and shoulders are in better supply but meet with ready sale We quote sh ulders @10c hams 12@12½ cents.

DRIED FRUIT—The demand for apples is somewhat duller and prices have slightly declined We quote choice in kegs @2½@ bushel Plums with pits dull at 6c pitless, 11@12c.

LARD—A fair article is in good demand at 12c for pure in kegs or tins

BUTTER—The market is fairly supplied and prices for choice as is commonly shipped range from 30@35c @ lb The best brands to market since the 1st of the month when not delivered on contract bring 40@45c

CHEESE—The trade is quiet and the demand well supplied at our former quotations

EGGS—Small receipts of this article though offering freely as supplies of this article though offering freely as the fact but recently that trade has received a check in the way of low prices to induce shipments to the Eastern markets Oregon eggs much liked per se Our market is quotably firm at 28 cents @ dozen

CHICKENS—The receipts of the past few days have been rather large and prices a little weaker Choice lots of grown chickens are still in demand at $5 @ 5 50 Broilers range $4@4 50 @ dozen

LIVE STOCK—We quote cattle as follows Steers on foot at 6@6½c @ pound Most of the animals now are in excellent condition Most of the choice per head would bring $60@70 Dressed beef is in small demand at 10@11c @ pound

HIDES—Choice dry prime hides are in good demand at 15@16c @ pound Calf skins 11@12c The shipping receipts are large

WOOL—There are no transactions worthy of note in our market, though considerable enquiry is manifested from the eastern markets and the feeling generally reported is that prices will rule firm for all grades of fine wools with a ready sale at current rates which are as follows
